Preliminaries

Submission

- As usual, clone the Git repository of the learner you are evaluating. It must contain a file with a link to the video hosted on a platform such as YouTube, Dailymotion, etc.
- This evaluation can be completed without the presence of the person being evaluated. However, if this is abused, mandatory attendance will be reinstated.
- If there is no link, the video cannot be viewed and the evaluation ends here.
- Please note that some videos may be "censored" for confidentiality reasons. Not everything can be shared in full. Proceed thoughtfully. Even if some parts are not explained in detail, the content and overall logic must remain understandable.

Staging and Professionalism

- The learner's face is visible for most of the video. (It is acceptable to include intro/conclusion segments or chapters where the learner is in close-up, or temporarily off-screen to display a title.)
- The overall presentation is professional:
 - > No distracting fonts or flashy backgrounds.
 - > Clean and appropriate clothing; a shirt or suit is recommended.
 - > No inappropriate language or behavior.
- There is a touch of roleplay: the presentation is addressed to a board, another company, or a newly hired colleague.

Showcasing Skills and Qualities

- The learner highlights their technical and/or managerial qualities without exaggeration.
- Are their claims ("I can do this," "I demonstrated that...") supported by concrete examples of work done during the experience? This second point should carry significant weight in your evaluation.
